

The Fayette County commissioners have taken steps to alleviate the overcrowding in the current county jail and are working toward construction of a new Fayette County Justice and Rehabilitation Center. As a part of the process, the commissioners have decided that there is a need for a separate website dedicated to the project and all aspects, including placement, design, engineering and construction. It is the goal of the commissioners to have a website available to the public to present all the ongoing information regarding the project.

The website will include a question and answer section, an FAQ section, links and photos showing design proposals, construction documents, cost estimates, engineer information and other related documentation and data.

Individuals interested in the design, development, hosting and maintenance of the website should list in their proposal examples of prior work, as well as their qualifications to perform such an undertaking. The Fayette County commissioners have decided that the scope of services that would be addressed in any proposals for providing such a service would include, and not be limited to the disseminating accurate information about all facets of the project. Any applicable costs associated with this undertaking shall also be included.
